To whomever it may concern

I have known Chew Tze Han for 12 months. I was her supervisor for her Final Year Project in her final semester and also her tutor for 411A (Industrial Automation) in year 2. Together with her partner, Tze Han had met the objectives stipulated for the final year project and met the timeline for completion.

While her partner worked on the most of the mechanical aspects of the project, Tze Han has been very involved in the wiring and programmable logic control programming. Under the supervision of my colleague, she was very focus on the task in the complex integration of the motion controllers needed for the completion of the project. She has also worked extensively on the wiring of the control box and testing of the system.

In my personal interactions with Tze Han, she is consistent and has done well and made marked improvements throughout the semester. She has shown confidence in managing the project and established a comfortable rapport with her peers and has no problem being a team player.

I am confident that Tze Han's skills and abilities would be a valuable asset to any institutions or organizations and I highly recommend her to be part of your team. Please contact me if you require any other information.

Yours sincerely,
